

© Universität Bonn/ Volker Lannert

Forty Years after the “Imperative of Responsibility”

Ethics of Technology Choice in Times of Eroding Planetary Boundaries

- 25 April The “Imperative of Responsibility”: Understanding Hans Jonas’ main philosophical work
- 22 May Gene editing – A responsible means to assure food security of a growing world population on limited farmland and under changing climate conditions?
- 19 June Carbon Capture and Storage – A responsible bridge to a low-carbon future?
- 10 July Industry 4.0 and Artificial Intelligence – Towards a bright future or mass unemployment and Orwellian societies?
- 23 October Solar radiation management and Carbon Dioxide Reduction – Necessary instruments to contain global warming?
- 6 November New societal models as a response to global challenges?
- 20 November Technology Assessment: German and international approaches
- 11 December Stocktaking and lessons learned: 40 years after – What does Hans Jonas teach us today?

Venue: Deutsches Institut für Entwicklungspolitik (DIE), Tulpenfeld 6, 53113 Bonn

Time: 4-6 pm

More on our lecture series and the panelists online: <https://bit.ly/2U73s0G>.

Registration for all events in this series: socioeconomic@die-gdi.de bonnalliance^{ICB}

